Dr. Susanne Etti [1]

Environmental Impact Specialist, Intrepid Travel
Melbourne, Victoria, Australia

Dr. Susanne Etti (she/her) is the Environmental Impact Specialist at Intrepid Travel. Susanne leads Intrepid's climate action work, including carbon performance, reporting and transitioning the business to the low-carbon economy. Intrepid has been a carbon neutral travel company since 2010 and in 2018 became the largest certified travel B globally.

Susanne has extensive experience with over fifteen years in social and sustainability management. She previously worked in consultancy roles and supported clients in thought leadership, external disclosures, and building corporate sustainability programs. She has also assisted companies in developing GRI sustainability reports, become listed on the Dow Jones Sustainability Index, develop Sustainability Strategy, and assess climate change risks and opportunities.

A passionate advocate for the environment and sustainability, Susanne is a mentor in the Climate Reality Project and spends much of her free time in nature bushwalking. Having lived and worked in six countries, she believes by empowering local people through sustainable travel experiences, we can make travel better for everyone and simultaneously take care of our planet.
